GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE JUMPING MOUSE

[BY HOWARD R. GARIS.]

[Copyright 1921, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

Uncle Wiggily was hopping through his garden one day, wondering whether he had better put any hats on the heads of the cabbages to keep off the hot sun, when the bunny rabbit gentleman saw what he thought was a bunch of dried weeds in among his hills of corn.

"Nurse Jane must have pulled up the weeds and left them on the ground," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "But they may take root and spring up again. I had better take them away and burn them up. Weeds are not good in a garden."

The bunny gentleman reached for the bunch of weeds, and, as he lifted them up a tiny creature jumped out with a frightened squeak, some tiny forms clinging to her.

"Oh, my goodness!" cried Mr. Longears. "A little mouse had her nest under that pile of weeds. I didn't know it and I have spoiled her home. Oh, dear!"

"Yes, it is very sad," spoke the little mouse, who, with her family clinging to her, had leaped away when the bunny lifted the weeds. She came to a stop, after three or four long jumps, on a hill of corn, some distance away from the bunny. "Still," went on Mrs. Mouse, "I'm glad you were not a bad cat."

"So am I," said Mr. Longears. "All the cats I know are good, like Jole, Tommie and Kittie. But I never saw such a lively mouse as you."

"No, we jumping mice are not as common as the other kind," went on the little creature, about whom were now gathered the little mice children. "It is a trick we have of getting away from those who would chase us—by jumping. But I know you will not chase us, Uncle Wiggily."

"No, indeed," answered the bunny. "And if I had known you were under that bunch of dried weeds I never would have taken it up. Still the damage is done, I suppose."

"Oh! not so much as you think," said the jumping mouse. "If you will put back the weed bunch I can make my nest there again. We live very simply in the summer. And if you don't mind I'll stay in your garden until the cold weather comes."

"Stay as long as you like," invited Uncle Wiggily.

"Thank you," spoke the tiny creature, and then she jumped up and down for joy, like a little girl frog skipping rope when the lightning bugs turn it for her.

"That mouse is surely a fine jumper," thought Uncle Wiggily as he hopped along, while the little mother and her family again made their home under the bunch of weeds. And as the bunny hopped along he heard, a short distance farther on, a sad voice saying:

"Oh, I can't do it! I can't do it. The milk is sour and ought to be churned into butter, but I can't do it! Oh, what a lot of trouble!"

"Hum!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself as he looked around, "this seems to be my busy day for trouble. I wonder if I can help whoever this is?" he went on. Looking about he saw no one, so he called out loud: "May I have the pleasure of helping you?"

"Well, I don't know," answered a voice. "Can you churn sour milk into butter?"

"I never did, but at least I can try," offered Mr. Longears.

At that a nice toad lady came slowly out from under a green leaf where she lived. In one of her paws was tied up in a bandage of white birch bark.

"I stepped on a sharp stone and hurt my foot," said the toad lady. "So I can't churn the juice of the milkweed plant into butter as I'd like to."

"Can't you sit in a chair and churn, even if one leg is sore?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No; you don't understand," said the toad lady. "You see to churn I must fasten the churn, with the sour milkweed juice in, on my back. Then I jump up and down, and this jumping and hopping churns the milk into butter. But alas! I can't jump and I can't make any butter. Do you want to churn for me, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Right gladly would I do it," said the bunny. "But I must hop to the store for Nurse Jane. However, I know who will hop up and down for you with the churn on her back and make butter."

"Who?" asked the toad lady.

"The jumping mouse," answered the bunny. And when he called the jumping mouse she came right quickly. The churn was fastened on her back. Up and down she jumped, also sideways and backard, and soon the milkweed juice was churned into lovely butter, and the toad lady gave some to the jumping mouse for her little ones.

So, after all, we see that even if molasses candy is sticky it is good to eat.

NERVOUSNESS, HEADACHE AND STOMACH TROUBLE ENDED

Nerv-Worth Quickly Overcomes These for Adolp. Shields.

"I had had Saint Vitus Dance, and it left me in an awful nervous condition," said Adolphus Shields, a well known Clarksburg, W. Va. resident. "My head ached a great deal, and my stomach was also in bad shape. I had doctored considerably with no results. Two bottles of Nerv-Worth improved my condition wonderfully, and I feel like a new man." It is a strange fact, but nervous and stomach ills are usually found together, and they are likewise the cause of much misery. Nerv-Worth's ability to act in such cases, and act quickly, makes it the ideal medicine for those who suffer from such troubles. FRANCE MAKES RUSS PROMISE

Will Help Russia If Russ Will Pay Debts.

AN AGREEMENT TO MEET OLD CLAIMS

Must Be Made Before Relief Is Sent from France.

France Expected To Withdraw Her Consent to a Meeting of Interallied Supreme Council August 4, Says Report.

Paris, July 29.—France has given semi-official assurance that she will give relief to Russia, providing the Moscow soviet agrees to pay the Russian public debt contracted under the old czarist regime, permits the return of Russian exiles and gives the returned "emigree" full liberty of action, it was learned today.

A report from Rome that the Russian situation will be discussed by the interallied supreme council at its meeting next month, was officially denied by the French foreign office

The British note, which was a reply to a French communication insisting upon the immediate dispatch of allied reinforcements to Upper Silesia, was brought to Paris by a special diplomatic courier who traveled by aeroplane. So far as known, this is the first time that the aeroplane has ever been utilized for diplomatic intercourse.

Premier Bonomi, of Italy, has sent word that he would be unable to attend a meeting of the supreme council, August 4, and France probably will utilize this development in her contention for a postponement of the meeting.

Cabinet Meeting.

Paris, July 29.—Following a meeting of the French cabinet, today, it was reported that France will withdraw her consent to a council, August 4 and will suggest meeting of the interallied supreme further delay until August 11.

President Millerand of France presided at the ministerial council. The ministers discussed at length the British communication of Thursday dealing with various phases of the Upper-Silesian issue.

PREMIER DRAFTING NEW NOTE TO LONDON

Expected To Strengthen Anglo-French Alliance, It Is Said.

Paris, July 29.—Premier Briand began, this afternoon, to draft the text of a new note to Great Britain dealing with the Upper-Silesian situation, which would, it was declared in government circles, "strengthen the Anglo-French alliance."

The note was approved by the cabinet at a second meeting. At the first meeting, this morning, the British note of yesterday was taken up and at a subsequent session, rejoinder was considered.

Government attaches professed to see no danger of a chasm between this country and Great Britain.

FIRST PHASE OF GREEK DIFFERENCES

Ends with Advance into Asia Minor, Says Report.

Constantinople, July 29—The first phase of the Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists, which has resulted in an advance into Asia Minor, apparently has ended, and it seems doubtful whether fighting will be resumed within a fortnight, at least. The Greeks are repairing railroad tunnels for the purpose of securing their lines of communications. Meanwhile the Turks are said to be bringing up troops from distant points. Kaizim Kara Bekir, commander-in-chief of the Turkish Nationalist forces which have been opposing the Greeks, is reported to have arrived at Sivas.

To Reduce Pay.

Pittsburgh, July 29.—The rate of pay for common labor at the plants of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, largest of the independents, will be cut from thirty-seven to thirty cents an hour, effective August 1, it became known today. Downward pay readjustment on the same ratio will be made at that time for all wages and tonnage employes. The Jones & Laughlin company is the last of the big independents to cut wages.

Will Not Be Granted.

Washington, July 29.—The request for an appropriation of $125,000,000 for the shipping board, made by Chairman Lasker, of the house appropriations committee, probably will not be granted, it was learned this afternoon. It was stated authoritatively that thus far Chairman Lasker has been able to convince the committee of needs for not more than $67,000,000.

MEASURE TO MEET PRESIDENT'S PLAN

Washington, July 29.—A bill to carry out the president's plan for funding the railroad debt to the government and extending assistance to the railroads through the war-finance corporation to the amount of approximately $500,000,000, was introduced in the senate, today, by Senator Townsend, Republican, of Michigan. A similar bill was introduced in the house, yesterday, by Representative Winslow, Republican, of Massachusetts, chairman of the house interstate commerce committee.

CLIMAX OF OLD IRONTON FEUD

Reached When Mayor Holds Up Editor.

MAYOR POINTS GUN AND MAKES DEMAND

Bitter Attacks in Newspaper Lead to Trouble in Which Citizens Are Taking Sides.

Ironton, July 29.—The climax of a political feud of long standing was enacted on the streets of Ironton, Thursday night, when Mayor Thomas L. Collett, walking across the street from his front porch, held up at the point of a gun Editor H. M. Paul, of the Morning Irontonian, demanding of him that he cease his newspaper attacks against the mayor and the city administration. The Irontonian is a Democratic newspaper and the mayor, a Democrat, is a stockholder and director of the newspaper. Paul, the editor, is a Republican and he has rarely missed an issue in criticism of the mayor. His ridicule and sarcasm has been virulent and scathing and Collett's appeals to the officers of the publishing company to have Paul cease his attacks have been fruitless.

The mayor's action in placing the gun at Paul's breast in full view of a score of people did not have the desired effect for this morning's issue of the editor's paper carried a seven-column headline reading: "Mayor Collett essays role of gunman" and then in a story of three columns the editor reiterates all his previous charges and says he stands by them.

The fight of Paul against the mayor is a personal one, as the mayor is on good terms with the officers and directors of the newspaper company.

In his story of the affair in his paper, this morning, Editor Paul says that as he was on his way to his office, he saw Mayor Collett leave his porch and walk across the street to intercept him.

"Say, I want to talk to you," said the mayor and as Paul walked towards the curb to meet the executive, he saw Collett level the gun at his breast.

"You've got to cease your attacks on me; if you don't, something's going to happen," said the mayor.

Paul demanded to know why Collett would carry a gun on the street and the mayor replied that he had a right to do so.

Sentiment naturally is divided here and further trouble is feared.

Kills Himself.

Cincinnati, July 29.—John Knox, sixty-nine, mayor of Mount Healthy, a suburb, committed suicide, this morning, by shooting. Criticism over his alleged failure to stop automobile speeding through the town and grief over the death of a nine-year-old girl recently killed by an automobile, is believed to have been the cause.

THE BASEBALL SCANDAL TRIAL

Expected Arguments Will Last Several Days.

EXAMINATION OF REBUTTAL WITNESSES

Last Witness on Stand Today. Case Will Not Reach Jury Until Next Week.

Chicago, July 29.—The "Black Sox" baseball scandal case will go to the jury in the form of arguments late this afternoon or early tomorrow, it was indicated when the state closes its examination of rebuttal witnesses in Judge Hugo M. Friend's court, today.

Arguments, it is expected, will last for several days, so that a decision will not be returned by the jury until next week, probably Monday or Tuesday.

Defense Rests.

Chicago, July 29.—After five White Sox players had been called to the stand, the defense in the baseball trial rested its case.

The players, summoned from the east, made statements from the witness stand which tended to disprove some of the most important points in the state's evidence against their former teammates, charged with conspiring to throw the 1919 world series to Cincinnati.

Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk, Dick Kerr, Roy Wilkinson and Manager William Gleason of the White Sox testified that the seven players on trial were at Redland field, Cincinnati, practicing from 10 to 12 a. m. the day before the first 1919 world series game. "Bill" Burns had testified that it was on this day and at these hours that he completed the alleged deal with the defendants whereby they were to throw games.

Manager Gleason said he left Chicago with his team, Monday night, two days before the first game. "We reached Cincinnati about 8 a. m.," said Gleason, "and went to the Sinton hotel. A little before 10 the men went to Redland field for practice. We got back to the hotel a little before noon."

Gleason said he thought Weaver was at practice and was sure Felsch, Risberg, Gandil, Williams, Jackson and Cicotte, the other player defendants, were there.

Schalk said he believed all the defendants were at practice, as he had not missed any of them. Eddie Collins, Ray Wilkinson and Dick Kerr were sure all were present, and Collins said he and Weaver left the park together and went to the races together that afternoon.

The defense also presented hotel records to show that "Chick" Gandil was not living at the Warner hotel during the 1919 world series. Burns testified he conferred with him there.

The state began its rebuttal testimony today.

Judge Friend may order Saturday and Saturday night sessions of court in the hope of getting the case to the jury this week or the first part of next week.

Allocation of Cable.

Washington, July 29.—Allocation to the American government of the former German cable running from Guam to Yap in the Pacific ocean, which was seized by the Japanese, is regarded as probable by the state department, according to a communication sent by Secretary of State Hughes to President Harding and in turn sent, today, to Senator Jones, Washington, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee.

Liberty Bonds.

New York, July 29.—Closing Liberty bonds: 3½, 88.04; second 4, 87.60; first 4¼, 87.90; second 4¼, 87.78; third 4¼, 91.92; fourth 4¼, 87.94; Victory 3¾, 98.64; Victory 4¾, 98.66.

OUTLOOK FOR FORMAL PEACE POLICY GOOD

London Optimistic Over Situation in Ireland.

London, July 29.—The outlook for a formal Irish peace parley in London was very bright, today.

The Dublin correspondents of the Manchester Guardian reported that the Sinn Fein cabinet had reached a secret decision which is believed to open the way to a peace conference in this city to settle for all time the troublesome Irish issue. It was believed, however, that Eamonn de Valera's reply to Premier Lloyd George's peace offer would not be sent to London for a day or two, possibly not until Monday.

De Valera has been sitting with his cabinet in Dublin every day this week. For a time, British officials were perplexed by the unusual length of time taken by the republicans to canvass the English offer, but the optimism prevalent in Dublin is now reflected here.

YOUNGSTOWN JURY INDICTS OFFICIALS

Charged with Bribery and Other Serious Offenses.

Youngstown, July 29.—David J. Scott, safety director; John Danks, mayor's clerk; City Detective Charles Richmond and Joseph W. Wess, Republican politician, were indicted by a special grand jury which reported today.

Scott was charged under twenty indictments with bribery, allowing prisoners to escape and defrauding under cover of office. Danks was charged with fraud; Richmond, with remaining in a house of ill fame for purposes of prostitution and Wess with receiving money under pretenses.

A special report was submitted charging federal prohibition officers had been corrupted. It asked the prosecutor to turn the evidence over to the federal district attorney for prosecution.

MELLON SUBMITS OUTLINE OF PLAN

For Collecting $11,000,000,000 from Nations of Europe.

Washington, July 29.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon gave the senate finance committee the first outline of his plan for collecting the $11,000,000,000 Europe owes the United States in principal and interest. He said he would start with Great Britain, the principal debtor, and follow with France and other countries; ask each debtor to submit a statement telling how it could pay and what terms it desired; defer interest collections for some time to come. Mellon said he would not accept bonds of any nation except the direct debtor. In other words, he would not take Serbian, Greek or Polish bonds in payment or security for money loaned Great Britain or France.

TRAGEDY IN A CHICAGO COURT

Desk Sergeant Shoots an Attorney to Death.

UNSUCCESSFUL IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Six Shots Fired by Infuriated Officer—Shooting Causes a Panic in Court-Room.

Chicago, July 29.—In the crowded court-room of Chief Justice C. A. McDonald of the criminal court, Desk Sergeant Harry D. Kellogg, of the Chicago police force, shot and mortally wounded Lemuel M. Ackley, an attorney and shot himself, shortly before noon today.

Ackley died in a hospital a few minutes later.

Kellogg sustained only a slight wound in the head.

Judge McDonald, who had just sentenced Kellogg to jail for fifteen days for contempt of court, declared Kellogg fired at him and hit Attorney Ackley instead. One of the six shots fired by Kellogg ripped into the jurist's bench. Two struck Ackley in the right side of the abdomen. According to witnesses, Kellogg, fired three times at his own head.

The court-room was thrown into wild confusion. Judge McDonald jumped up from his chair and rushed into his chambers.

Harry Pabst Is Taken at Cuba, Missouri.

Morral, O., July 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Harry Pabst, of Toledo, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Smith, of this place, Thursday evening received a telegram telling of the death yesterday morning of her husband at the home of his parents at Cuba, Missouri. He had been ill for the past two weeks of malarial fever.

MANY PERSONS BELIEVED LOST

Lincoln, Nebraska, July 29.—Many persons are believed to have lost their lives in a cloudburst that practically wiped out the town of Beulah, Wyoming, forty-five miles west of Spearfish, South Dakota, according to messages received today. Stragglers entering Spearfish declared that most of the 100 inhabitants of the village were drowned.

The known dead are Mrs. William Bower, of Missouri Valley, Iowa and John Bower, of Chardon, Nebraska.

REDUCTION IN RAILWAY RATES

Eastern Roads Make a Slight Concession Today.

FURTHER ADJUSTMENT OF RATES COMING

Conference of Rail Chiefs To Be Held in Chicago Next Week. New Export Rates.

Washington, July 29.—The demand for reduction in railroad rates brought a concession, today, from the eastern roads.

The Association of Railway executives announced that the eastern roads have agreed upon a reduction of five cents per hunderd pounds in export rates for wheat, corn, rye from Buffalo, Erie and Fairport to eastern export points. A reduction of three cents a hundred pounds in export rates on barley and oats was also announced. The reduction in wheat, corn and rye rates amounts to about twenty-five per cent.

"An adjustment of rates from central to eastern territory is to be given further consideration at a conference to be held in Chicago, next week," the association announced.

"It should be understood that the heavy reduction now made in grain export is not justified on the basis of the cost of transportation service."

THAT PALM BEACH SUIT FADES AWAY BEFORE JUPE

Showers Are Needed, and Nobody Cares a Whoop.

Jupe Pluvius was in a most changeable mood today and kept turning the spigots on and off so that Marionites didn't know whether to put on their palm beaches or get out their raincoats and trusty shower sticks.

However, the merry little raindrops received a hearty welcome from sizzling humanity to say nothing of the parched gardens and flower beds.

Old Man Jupe seems a bit undecided whether to play a long engagement or a one-night stand, but the way earth plane dwellers feel today he can hop right to it and they don't give a whoop which way.

There was only twenty-one hundreds of rainfall today with all the showers.

WRANGLE OVER THE SWEET BIL

SOME PROGRESS IS NOW BEING NOTE

A Number of Amendments A Adopted—Big Appropriations Needed for Hospitals.

Washington, July 29.—The congressional wrangle over the Swee bill for the relief of the disa veterans continued yesterday, wit out producing final results.

Better progress was made yeste day, however, than at any time sinc the measure was thrown into di pute between the senate and hous The Walsh amendment to allow mo humane and liberal treatment of e service men suffering from tubercu losis and mental diseases was adop ed, with a slight modification. Se eral other amendments of less i portance were adopted.

The chief point of difference namely, the senate amendment ma ing the proposed veterans' bureau a independent bureau—remained i dispute. Senate members of th conference committee felt confiden however, that this would be retained With that question decided, th other matters requiring adjustme would soon be settled, it was state

Additional appropriations of $16 400,000 will be needed to furnis adequate hospitalization for disable veterans, according to Dr. Willia C. White, of Pittsburgh, chairma of the committee of consulting phy sicians now advising the treasury de partment before the senate commit tee on soldiers' relief.

Hospital Needs Told.

With $18,600,000 appropriated congress last March, the total de lay for additional hospital facilities including Dr. White's latest est mate, is $33,000,000. Dr White stated that thirteen hospita projects, involving the expenditur of $7,000,000, are already unde construction.

Dr. White's testimony furnishe some new light on the authorshi of the Dawes report. The docto testified that his committee, shortly after it was organized in April, pre pared a report on the needs fo soldiers' relief and turned it ove to the Dawes commission. This re port, he stated, was adopted in tot by the Dawes commission and sub mitted to the president as the Dawes report.

Reexaminations Urged.

Colonel Charles R. Forbes, di rector of the war-risk bureau, sug gested to the committee today the advisability of reexamining all ex service men, to the number of over 4,000,000, to obtain a more ac curate basis for awarding compensation to disabled veterans.

Dr. W. H. Terriberry, assistant surgeon general, told the committee that 147 cases of dentists defrauding the government had been referred to the department of justice. He characterized these frauds as "low down graft." The dentists are accused of having charged for work never performed.

Dr. Haven Emerson, assistant director of the medical division, in charge of the medical division, estimated that 5,000 ex-service men not now being cared for by the government should be brought into hospitals. In Chicago and New York, he stated, much difficulty had been experienced in providing adequate treatment for mental cases.

SMALL DEFIES ALL AUTHORITY

Declares He Will Not Submit to Arrest.

IGNORES RULING OF COURT IN MATTER

Governor Begins a Tour of the State—May Not Go to Springfield Until Next Week.

Chicago, July 29.—Leaving his affairs in the hands of a cabinet of five attorneys, Governor Len Small, under indictment for alleged misappropriation of state interest funds departed today on a tour of inspection of Illinois roads. The purpose of the tour is to obtain information to be used in the awarding of contracts for road construction. The plans of the governor, it was announced, call for visits to Kane, Will, Cole and other counties of the state. He conferred, this forenoon, with a delegation from Lake county regarding road building there. The tour contemplated will require several days, making it evident that the governor will not return to Springfield, where warrants for his arrest are held by Sheriff Henry Mester, until some time next week, at least.

Governor Small persists in his contention that the sheriff has no authority to arrest him.

"The executive functions can not be interfered with," he said. "The constitutoin so holds, regardless of the opinion of Judge E. S. Smith, of Sangamon county."

"But suppose Sheriff Mester attempts to serve the warrants while you are conducting your survey?" the governor was asked.

"He has no authority to arrest me," the governor said.

"But what if he insists he has and attempts to force such a decision?"

"I will not tolerate any interference."

"How will you stop it?"

"I can not say just now."

Governor Small spent the night with his family at Kankakee, but returned to Chicago early today.

May Face Women.

Springfield, Illinois, July 29 — Governor Len Small, now "at large," with three warrants out for his arrest, will probably have to face one or more women on the jury that will try him, next September.

It was learned, today, from a reliable source, that the names of scores of Sangamon county women had been placed in the September jury "wheel," from which will be drawn a jury for the governor's trial. The "wheel" was closed, today.

It was announced from the office of State's Attorney Fred C. Mortimer that the state would not bar women jurors. On the other hand, it was intimated that the state's attorney would welcome one or more women on the jury. The attitude of the governor's legal advisers is not known.

There is still a possibility, however, that the governor will win a change of venue from the Sangamon county corts. This effort will be virogously opposed by the state.

The county authorities have adopted a "watchful waiting" policy toward the governor and his array of legal advisers. They are awaiting some reply to the "unconditional surrender" ultimatum sent to him at Chicago, two days ago. This ultimatum declared the governor would have to submit to arrest at the Sangamon county court-house.

The bench warrants issued by Judge E. S. Smith for the governor's arrest are still locked in the safe of Sheriff Mester. His attitude was explained in the cryptic comment, "it's the governor's move."

Both sides in the drama of legal action that threatens to be the most sensational in Illinois political history, were apparently marking time.

Plans Submitted.

Columbus, July 29.—Plans to consummate a sale of the Bucyrus Telephone company to a new concern were, today, submitted to the public utilities commission, when a petition asking permission to transfer the entire corporate property of the old company to H. E. Cook, as trustee, was presented. With it was also presented a request from the new company for approval of the deal and also asking the commission to determine the valuation upon which rentals, rates, tolls and charges shall be fixed.

Market Opening.

New York, July 29.—The stock market was irregular in the early trading this morning.

WANDERER GIVEN NEW LIFE LEASE

Chicago, July 29.—Carl Wanderer's song in the county jail took on a new tilt, today, as he moved from the shadow of the gallows back into the cell where night has never fallen for him. The former army lieutenant, who is accused of murdering his wife, her unborn child and a "ragged stranger," was to have been hanged this morning, but was granted a sixty-day reprieve.

Wanderer was in the death cell when the news of the reprieve reached him. He was taken back to the cell where big "daylight" lamps, perpetually kept out the shadows of night.

During the sixty-day reprieve granted Wanderer by Governor Small, a group of alienists for the state will inquire into his sanity. If he is found sane, he will hang, September 30. If found insane, he faces life imprisonment. The reprieve was granted at the instigation of William R. McCauley, state commander of the American legion.

the Far-East conference and that he is so hopeful of achieving this honor that he is going to China, Japan and Australia to make a personal study of conditions so as to possess first-hand information on the subject.

It is certain however, that if the present administration continues in power, Lord Northcliffe will not go to Washington as a delegate, although he may attend as a "journalist-historian" and unofficial observer.

A curious circumstance of the fight is that Lloyd George practically owes his post as premier to Northcliffe. Following the downfall of the Asquith government, the Northcliffe papers united in supporting Lloyd George and practically elected him.

The Northcliffe interview caused a sensation in Great Britain. Its publication was restricted, however. The Manchester Guardian said that the interview appeared only in special provincial editions of the Daily Mail and was then suppressed.

The Manchester Guardian alleges that it was "deliberately designed to destroy the credit of the British government in the Irish negotiations, and above all, to belittle Lloyd George, personally."

The Manchester Guardian expressed the hope that Lord Northcliffe would repudiate the interview.

Explosive Comment.

Washington, July 29.—"It's a lie,"—that was the short and explosive comment of Lord Northcliffe today, when he read an International News service despatch from London stating that the British foreign office has issued a statement denying that Lord Curzon has anything to do with the cancellation of the invitation to Lord Northcliffe to be the guest at the British embassy here.

Northcliffe, fresh from his morning bath and with perspiration streaming down his face, strode across the room with his bathrobe flapping around his legs, as the reporter was admitted. The publisher beckoned him into an adjoining room and remained standing.

"Be brief, young man," he snapped. "I want to get out of this heat. I can't stand it."

The London despatch, containing the denial of the British foreign office to Lord Curzon in connection with the cancellation of the embassy dinner was proffered to him.

"Read it," he said, "I can't see."

The despatch was read.

"It's a lie,' Northcliffe said sharply and turned to leave the room.

"Cant you say something further about it?" the published was asked.

"What more do you want?" Northcliffe returned. "I said it was a lie, didn't I?"

The telephone rang and one of his secretaries called him.

Just before he picked up the receiver, he turned and added:

"I happen to know he did it,"—referring, evidently, to Lord Curzon.

Northcliffe turned to the 'phone and the interview was ended.

Northcliffe and his American representative and H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, were entertained at luncheon, today, by the Overseas Writers, an organization of American newspaper men who have served in foreign countries.

Mrs. Edward McLean, wife of the publisher of the Washington Post will entertain Lord Northcliffe at a dinner, tonight, at her residence.

This affair is expected to be as brilliant as the dinner at the British embassy.

MIRY STREAM OF BOOZE GROWS

ing ship from the Bahamas. The foreign crew which had brought the liquor along at their own risk was content with a profit of 100 per cent. This pint of whisky cost sixty cents at the source. The business of bootlegging transferred it from producer to consumer at a profit of 2,400 per cent. And yet many bootleggers are talking of quitting business.

"This is a 'mug's' game," said a well known rum-runner, today. "I've made a lot of money, but it's easy come, easy go and things are getting to a point where protection is costing me more than I take in."

Capital Interested.

Once an individual matter, as when eighteen months ago, prohibition first became effective, the bootlegging industry has attracted to itself a big capital and organizing genius. Today, the thirst of America is being catered to by an industry which has more employes than the New York Central railroad and which supplies millions of gallons of liquor, good, bad and all expensive, making a profit of over 2,000 per cent.

Organized into trusts, bootleggers feel they can stand the gaff.

Moreover, shipping combines to keep the profits from the rum-running vessels of the high seas and turn them back into bootleggers' profits, will be possible under syndicate management.

Already in New York the foreshadows of a gigantic rum-running industry can be seen in the White Light district. Of fourteen "speakeasy" places within a mile of Times Square, ten got their entire supply from the same "retailer."

AGED EDWARD HOLDEN DISMISSED BY MAYOR

Statute of Limitations and His Lawyer Do It.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF OVERCOAT IN 1914

Brigadier General of the Good Samaritan Army and Aides Told To Stop Begging.

Edward Holden, the aged so-called brigadier general of the Good Samaritan army, arrested the first of the week on an affidavit filed against him by W B. Whitehead on a charge of stealing an overcoat in October, 1914, was given a hearing in the mayor's court, Thursday afternoon. Holden was represented by Attorney L E Myers.

Three of the four witnesses, testifying for the prosecution, identified Holden as the man, Lu, at that time he was under another name After the testimony against him, no effort was made by the defendant to prove his innocence, but Attorney Myers filed a motion to have the case dismissed on account of the statute limitations which provide that in statute of limitation which provide that in misdemeanor cases a charge must be filed within three years after the commission of the crime This motion had to be sustained and the case was dismissed.

Not Salvation Army.

In view of the fact that reports came to the mayor that members of the sect solicited funds and left some donators under the impression that they were giving to the Salvation army, and that the solicitors received half of the subscriptions received, Mayor Andrews asked one of the members what his share was in the contributions. This member refused to answer the mayor and as the mayor concluded that the Salvation army was entitled to all the support of the citizens, and feeling that Marion was not able to support two organizations, the mayor ordered them to desist from further solicitation of funds in the city and ordered the police to arrest any persons caught soliciting.

MUSS OVER PROHIBITION KICKED UP AT MT. VICTORY

Minister and Doctor Clash at Town Pump.

Titled residents of the peppery little village of Mt. Victory, nine miles south of here, stepped into the glow of the spotlight, today, when, it is reported, from Mt. Victory, Dr J J Boone and Rev. Addyman Smith, Methodist Episcopal minister, became involved in a heated discussion which led to certain activity on the part of both men, says Thursday's Kenton News-Republican.

What are considered reliable reports from Mt. Victory say that Dr Boone and the pastor met near the town pump Thursday afternoon It is said they became involved in an interchange of words over matters which have engaged the attention of both men for several days

The reports further say that Dr Boone struck the minister with a stick, and that Rev Smith retaliated by drenching the dispenser of medicine with the contents of a three-gallon pail of water which he held in his hand

It is generally believed that the reported trouble arose over recent activities of prohibition enforcement officers in seeking alleged violators of the Crabbe law in Mt. Victory and the high pitch which public sentiment has reached in the village. It is understood that Rev. Smith has been active in urging strict enforcement of the prohibition law in the town

The affair first came to attention here when Dr Boone appeared at the city hall, with his clothing drenched with water and asserting it is said, that he was willing to pay a fine for striking the Mt Victory pastor. No charge had been filed against Dr. Boone and no official action was taken It was said the doctor was accompanied here by Charles Kennedy, auctioneer, and that Rev. Addyman Smith and Mart Cronley, Mt Victory marshal, also came to Kenton

Rev. Addyman Smith told the News-Republican this afternoon that his trip here this morning was for purposes of advisement only He stated that he will file charges against Dr. J J. Boone, charging the physician with assault and battery. This charge may be filed this afternoon, he stated.

TWO HEIRS SEEK TO SET ASIDE E. M. RIZOR WILL

Decedent Father of One and Grandfather of Other.

NOTE SUIT AGAINST JOHN KELLY SETTLED TODAY

Mrs. Burton A. Vigor Says Husband Deserts Her and Goes to California—She Sues.

Suit to set aside the will of Elijah M. Rizor was filed in the common pleas court this morning by Earnest Cooper and Jacob S. Rizor, through Attorney J. H. Eymon. The petition names as defendants Joseph Rizor, Val Rizor, Maria D. Stanton, James B. Rizor, Alice S. Chapman, Amba Rizor, Offa May Colmer, Verna D. Rizor and J. W. Campbell, as administrator of the estate of Elijah M. Rizor.

The petition states that November 6, 1920, Elijah M. Rizor, father of one of the plaintiffs and grandfather of the other, died leaving an estate and the plaintiffs and all of the defendants named, excepting the administrator, as his only children and heirs at law. November 27, 1920, the petition sets forth, a certain paper purporting to be the last will of Elijah M. Rizor, bearing date of June 2, 1919, was admitted to probate and letters of administration issued to J. W. Campbell, who qualified and has since been serving. A charge that the paper is not the last will of Elijah M. Rizor is made.

$3,200 Note Suit Settled.

The suit of Mell C. Blair against John Kelly and others was settled, costs paid and the record waived in the common pleas court this morning. Blair sued on a note for $3,200.

Only One Apron.

Denial of charges that she has been guilty of improper conduct or that she ever made admissions of such alleged conduct is contained in the answer and cross-petition of the defendant filed in the common pleas court Thursday afternoon in the divorce suit of Elmer E. Denman against Grace B. Denman. The pleading was filed through DeGalley & DeGalley.

The defendant states that she and the plaintiff were married in 1917, instead of 1914 as stated in the petition, and enters a general denial of the charges made in the petition. She charges the defendant always has been disagreeable, never gave her the necessities of life and during their entire married life purchased only one apron for her.

The defendant asks for an injunction to restrain the plaintiff of disposing of the piano and her interest in the property and also from molesting her. She asks dismissal of his petition, that she be granted a sufficient amount to prepare her case and for her maintenance, that she be awarded the plaintiff and their rights in the property be adjudicated. The temporary injunction as prayed for was granted.

Well, This Is Different.

The temporary injunction restraining the defendant from drawing money from his account at the Marion Savings bank, was modified in the common pleas court, Thursday afternoon, in the divorce suit of Florence A. Snyder against Charles F. Snyder. The modification provides that all checks drawn on the account payable to the plaintiff may be paid by the bank.

Immoral and Cruel, Charge.

Charges of immorality and extreme cruelty are made against the defendant in a suit for divorce filed this morning in the common pleas court by Gladys Lucille Vigor against Burton A. Burgor. The petition was filed through Attorney H. E. Hill.

Mrs. Virgor charges her husband abandoned her and went to California and that practically all during their married life he abused her, threatened to strike her and told her to return to her home. She also charges that he never provided for her and that she has worked during practically all of her married life. She asks for divorce and restoration of her maiden name of Liggett.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS AT RICHWOOD ARE MANY

And the New Police Chief Is Kept Busy.

Seven violators of the traffic ordinance have paid fines in the local mayor's court since Saturday, says this week's Richwood Gazette. Two of these offenders were fined for leaving their engines run without a driver. The other five were penalized for reckless driving.

From results so far, it seems as though the new chief of police intends to strictly enforce the ordinance regulating traffic.

On some of the side streets hitch racks remain. It is asked that drivers of automobiles refrain from parking in front of these racks as they are reserved for horse-drawn vehicles. It is also stated that machines may be left standing without lights burning, but when in motion the lights must burn, as required by ordinance.

Overcome by Heat — Jacob Schleenbaker, of Sharpless court, became affected by the heat, Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock while walking along Center street near the Anthony laundry and fell. His face was bruised and his left arm, which is off near the elbow, was slightly cut. He had been overcome with heat about three weeks ago.

Hefferman, who was killed in action in the Argonne Forest battle, October 4, 1918, was taken to the family home at Akron, Saturday, July 23, and the funeral was held from St. Vincent's church, Monday. VOLCANO-LIGHTHOUSE OF MEDITERRANEAN SEA

Stromboli Is Showing Some Signs of Anger.

AND 3,000 NATIVES ARE GETTING READY TO FLEE

Connecting Link Between Vesuvius on Italy's Mainland and Etna on Sicily.

Washington, July 29—The constantly active volcano, Stromboli, on Stromboli Island in the Mediterranean, seems to be redoubling its effort lately, and the 3,000 terrified inhabitants are holding themselves in readiness to flee at almost any moment should the danger from the molten rocks and sulphurous gases issuing from the crater threaten their lives and their homes, despatches state.

"The circular cone of the volcano which forms the island of Stromboli, and the six other islets of the Lipari group comprise a connecting link between Vesuvius on the mainland of Italy and Etna on Sicily. The violent wrath of these three mighty mountains is partially responsible for the terrific earth shudderings at Messina and in other parts of Sicily and Italy," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters in Washington.

Vulcan's Forge of Ancients.

"The situation of the Lipari group on a map suggests the idea that they are the stars which Sicily saw from a terrific blow in comic flings on the top of her nose, inflicted by the wrathful boot of Italy. Stromboli is living up to this figurative excuse for her existence.

"By keeping her fires burning night and day, and throwing her lurid light on the Italian and Sicilian horizon, the volcano is weird and mysterious.

"On this mountain which rises about 3,000 feet above sea level and about 6,000 above the floor of the sea, according to the ancients, was one of the forges of Vulcan on which he hammered out the scepter of Jove and the shields and spears of the gods. On its precipitous slopes Aeolus, the god of the winds, in company with his six sons and six daughters was supposed to have held his revels and in the cavernous sides of the mountain to have confined the blasts.

"In mediaeval times the belching crater of Stromboli was believed to be the entrance to purgatory.

"About 1,000 feet from the top of Stromboli there is an opening from which steam constantly issues and hangs in a smoky-looking cloud above the mountain. Ordinarily it is possible to climb up to the opening and look over upon the black floor through the cracks of which smoke issues and the red-hot lava hisses, boils and sputters, the 'cooking' of the earth's interior resembling more than anything else the boiling of a large pot of mush. As the huge bubbles burst, lava is thrown high in the air. Sometimes the fire of the earth quickens, as it has been doing recently, and then the hissing of the steam may be heard many miles out at sea and the lava boils over the side of the cone.

Like Man-Made Lighthouses.

"Stromboli, unlike the volcanoes that experience intense paroxysms of activity followed by long periods of repose, offers one of the best examples of the continuously active volcano. Standing alone in the sea, it is visible for almost 100 miles, its ever-lighted fires tinting the clouds and the sky with a rosy glow, which has led to its being known as 'The Lighthouse of the Mediterranean.' Its light, however, is not constant in its intensity; first the sky is almost a bright red, which then decreases to a faint glow, only to be followed again by the bright light.

"In this respect it resembles the flashing lighthouses which are common to coasts the world over, and in reality it is used by sailors in the Mediterranean. In lighthouses of the man-made kind the flashes come at regular intervals, one of the beacons being differentiated from another by the length of time between the flashes. Stromboli, in this respect maintains its individuality, for its glowings are very irregular, varying between one and twenty flashes per second, the intensity also carying from to time.

"Scientists, in studying the flashes of the light of the mountain have found that as the steam accumulates below, the lava in trying to force its way out pushes back the scum on the cauldron and leaves the surface of the molten mass exposed to view; when that bubble has burst with a roar the scum again darkens the surface, in consequence of which the sky glows and fades.

"The little town of San Vincenzo on Stromboli is about sixteen miles from the Straits of Messina. The surrounding country is fertile and cotton, wine and figs are raised. The mountain sides yield sulphur and pumice stone."

Dr. Milton C. Wisely, of Ohio State university, Thursday visited in Marion with H. E. Hill.

Is Near Death.

Cleveland, July 29.—Mrs. Winifred Shingle, twenty-four, was near death, today, having shot herself in the abdomen with a revolver in effort to frighten her husband, a plumber, with whom she was quarreling. She said she did not know the gun was loaded. The couple lived at a hotel. Little hope is entertained for the woman's recovery.

To Consider Fares.

Dayton, July 29.—The city commissioners and City Railway Car company heads have called a special meeting for Monday afternoon, to take up fare rates. The commission is preparing an ordinance calling for a five-cent rate and the car people say this will not raise sufficient revenue. All of the five lines are operating with non-union labor.

VEIOCK ON SPORTS

New York, July 29.—That much abused title heirloom, the middleweight crown, is the center of another roaring dispute, today, as a result of the Wilson-Downey bout in Cleveland.

Ever since Ketchel and Papke hung up their gloves, it has been batted about from pillar to post and it appears to be in for some more battering.

Jimmy Wilson and Jimmy Gardner, his handpicked referee on the side, contend that the title did not change hands.

Peyton Downey, members of the press who were at the ringside and the Cleveland boxing commission claim that it did and that Downey is the new champion.

It would seem, if the facts as telegraphed from Cleveland are correct, that Downey is champion whether or not his claim is disputed by Wilson. True, the referee awarded the decision to Wilson on a foul, but as no one at the ringside admits having seen a foul committed and the boxing commission, which has the final say in all matters, has reversed the decision Wilson's claims won't hold much water.

The fact that Marty Killilea, Wilson's manager, jumped into the ring and laid a hand on him before the count was over as Wilson went down for the third time, is enough in itself to lose for him, under the rules in every state in the country where boxing is legalized.

All in all there appears to have been some queer work and with Cleveland boxing officials backing him up to the limit, Downey has all the best of it. He seems to be the champion.

Wilson has never been a popular boxer. He can scarcely expect that the boxing fans will stand up for him in this dispute, especially as he took a hand-picked referee to Cleveland with him. And it is a certainty that the boxing commissions outside of Ohio will recognize the ruling of the Cleveland commission.

RICHWOOD FAIR TO BE BEST IN ITS HISTORY

According to Promoters and Entries Indicate It.

From the way entries are coming in it seems that the Richwood fair next week will be the best yet, says this week's Richwood Gazette. The secretary's books are now well filled.

On the fair ground many concessionaries have already camped, and horses which will contest in the speed events are already stabled there.

Word from the homecomers who will put on the big show Friday and Saturday, discloses the enthusiasm which these former residents are putting into their activities. They are going to have a real home-coming and an entertainment that will please everybody.

YEH, LIFE OF BARBER IS SURE MOST HARD

Put It Up to Him Next Time and See.

Where do barbers come from? Marion barbers say it is practically impossible to get young men to learn the trade in the city any more.

The barbering business has changed greatly from what it used to be. It used to be that a youngster who wanted to learn the trade came into the shop as an apprentice and learned his trade by actual experience, but now, like every other profession, there is a barbers' college where they teach the rudiments of the trade.

After the young barber has graduated from his school, however, he isn't a finished barber by any means. He still has to have the rough edges knocked off him and this he gets by experience in a shop.

The life of the green barber is a hard one. He gets a chair in a shop, the proprietor sees he's a greenhorn and out he goes. He gets a job in another shop where they are short, and stays there until the rush is over or an expert barber is secured and then he's turned out in the cold again. Thus the inexperienced barber lives a hand to mouth existence until finally in his travels he picks up the tricks of the trade and lands a steady berth.

Most barbers come from the small towns.

HE BELIEVES CLOVER BRINGS HIM TITLE

For ten years James Barnes has been trying to win the national open golf championship. On the course of the Columbia Country club, Chevy Chase, Maryland, June 22, his ten years efforts were crowned with success. Somebody has attributed his remarkable playing to the fact that throughout the tourney he kept a lucky clover leaf in his mouth. Here is a picture of the new golf champ, showing him with the lucky clover leaf.

BASEBALL

Tagging the Bases.

Waite Hoyt's fine pitching enabled the Yanks to take the measure of the Browns. Hoyt allowed but four hits.

Daring base running by the Boston Braves gave them the edge over the Reds.

A timely triple by Pete Kilduff in the fourth inning coupled with Leon Cadore's nice shutout pitching, gave the Dodgers a victory over Chicago.

Grimes scored from first on Smith's single in the ninth inning and the Irish downed Boston.

Kess Heinis distributed five hits among the Phillies, but refused to put out any runs.

Cob got kos into the Tiger lineup and the Bengals trailed a twin bill with the athletics.

FIVE MEXICANS NABBED HERE FOR SHOPLIFTING

Two of 'Em Escape, but They Are Run Down.

T. J. MURPHY'S HOME RAIDED FOR BOOZE

Raid Is Conducted by State Deputy Together with Sheriff and Cops.

Five Mexicans are being held at the city prison to answer charges of shoplifting. The names given by the men are Albert Granadore, Ygnacio Ranivez, Raymond Ybarra, Jose Francis and De Villa.

The arrest was the result of three suits of clothes being stolen at the store of the People's Clothing company on south Main street this morning. Three of the fellows were in the store and the suits were missed just after they left. These three were soon rounded up and about two hours later as Desk Officer Tom Clark was coming from dinner, he arrested two more on north State street, near Fairground street. He left them in charge of a man while he telephoned to headquarters, and when he came out the fellow said they ran down an alley, leaving the suitcase they carried.

Less than twenty minutes later they were arrested by Officer Andrews on Madison avenue. The officer was working in his garden on Franconia avenue when he saw the fellows running and believing them guilty of something, he chased them to Madison avenue where he caught them. They proved to be the two who were taken in custody by Officer Clark while they were waiting to board an interurban car for Bucyrus. The suitcase contained a suit stolen recently from the People's Clothing company and several pairs of new trousers, a lady's dress, hair nets and some articles that were undoubtedly stolen.

T. J. Murphy Nabbed.

A state prohibition deputy, accompanied by the sheriff and a couple of the city patrolmen, went to the home of T. J. Murphy, of Cherry street, this morning, where they placed Murphy under arrest, following the finding of over thirteen gallons of corn whisky.

The whisky was in jugs and a number of empty jugs were also taken as evidence. The whisky was taken to headquarters and Murphy is being held pending the filing of an affidavit against him.

Intoxicated, Drives Auto.

John Reading was arrested on Davids street Thursday night on a charge of driving his automobile while intoxicated. Reading was locked up and an affidavit was to be filed against him this afternoon.

For Theft of Bicycle.

Alva Orr, arrested Thursday for the theft of a bicycle belonging to Joseph Pickett, was arraigned before the mayor this afternoon to answer the charge. Orr pleaded guilty to taking the bicycle, but stated he had been drinking. He refused to tell where he secured his drinks, so the mayor reserved sentence and he was locked up to think it over.

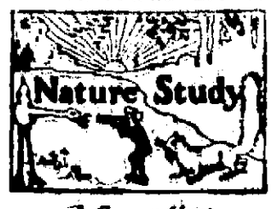
Reported Betrothed To Princess Mary Of England

Persistent rumors state that Princess Mary, the only daughter of King George, will marry Lord Allen Algernon Apsley, oldest son of the Earl of Bathurst. Queen Mary is said to highly approve the match. Lord Apsley is a typical young English aristocrat, a tall scholarly young man who is worthy to be the consort of the only daughter of the royal house. Lord Apsley's mother is the owner of the Morning Post, the organ of the British aristocracy.



A Cocoon Hunt

BY AMELIA BELLE REARD

You do not carry a gun or game bag on this hunt, nor do you bother with a camera. All you need is a pair of keen eyes to find your game and a box or paper bag in which to bring home your specimens. They must not be crushed or tightly packed, therefore your pocket is not a good place for them.

The cocoons should be in the best of condition at this time of the year. You will find them in the woods, clinging to branches of shrubs in marshy places and along the roadside; plastered on board fences and sometimes in hollow logs. Even on our city trees you may come across these little brown bags that hold the small, sleeping things which in early summer, will emerge gorgeous winged creatures.

The cecropia moth—remember the name—which is one of the largest and handsomest of all our moths, uses for blankets only the silk spun from its own body. You may know the Cecropia cocoon—it is quite large—by its being lashed its whole length to whatever supports it—often to a twig of a Maple or other large shade tree—and by its outer coat which looks as if made of dry brown paper.

The cocoon of the beautiful, pale-green LUNA MOTH though incased in two or three leaves does not fasten itself, as some others do, to the twig, but when the leaves loosen and fall it drops with them to the ground. It is almost oval in shape, about two inches long and is usually found under large trees like the oak, walnut and hickory.

The cocoon wrapped in several leaves and hanging by a few silken threads from a twig of the Willow tree, will probably be that of the splendid POLYPHEMUS MOTH (you can remember that name too) which has little window-like spots on its wings, clear and transparent as glass.

Do not pull the cocoons off their twigs, take twigs and all and put them in a vase in a safe place where they will have light and air, then early in June watch for the moths to come out. It is a wonderful sight.

OPERATIONS OF TRADE CROOKS

Names of Rich Men Are Used To Secure Credit.

FALSE CARDS MISLEAD THE MANUFACTURERS

Makers of Goods Suppose They Are Shipping Goods to Well-Rated Customers.

New York, July 29.—A warning against crooks who have been using the names of well-rated merchants to obtain merchandise was issued today by J. H. Tregoe, executive secretary of the National Association of Credit Men, when he sent a message to the 33,000 manufacturers, wholesalers and bankers who are members of that institution.

Mr. Tregoe announced that the investigation-prosecution department of his association has just inaugurated a country-wide campaign to block the latest move made by professional commercial swindlers who have already obtained valuable goods by trading on the names of large concerns. Some of the merchandise obtained by the trade crooks has been recovered by the association.

Manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers are warned against shipping merchandise to applicants for credit merely upon a rating, without obtaining a report, which, in addition to showing the antecedents of the applicants, would give their correct address. Even though the houses highly rated are perfectly good, credit grantors should make sure that the persons applying for credit are really connected with the houses rated and not trading under the same name at a different address. These swindlers apply for credit and refer to rating books regarding their ability to pay. Finding the rating to be satisfactory, the sellerships the goods to the address given by the applicants, who maintain fly-by-night headquarters, which often are on the same street as are located the quarters of the regular merchants.

Mulcted of $500,000.

"Mr. C. D. West, manager of the investigation - prosecution department, is determined to end the newest move made by these swindlers," says Mr. Tregoe's statement. "Following an extensive investigation, Mr. West, who achieved considerhave been mulcted of at least $500,000 through this practice."

Mr. West, who achieved considerable fame recently when he exposed a scheme whereby commercial crooks trained cats to set fires, in an interview today said:

"It is our hope that, after we have secured the conviction of these commercial crooks, the courts will impose adequate sentences. Some of the professional swindlers against whom we have secured indictments, have received trifling sentences. These commercial cyooks are really more dangerous to society than petty thieves, such as pickpockets and shoplifters, as their loot represents many thousands of dollars. These dishonest men are thoroughly organized and have sufficient funds with which to carry on their crooked operations and work under master minds who furnish the outlet for the merchandise obtained. They use 'sucker lists' containing the names of firms who are not cautious enough in granting credit. Commercial crime is in a large measure new to the courts and is not well understood by prosecutors or by judges. At the present time we have a large number of cases pending in the courts which have been delayed due to the congestion therein.

Credit Secured by Impersonation.

"Lowering morals in society and business have been reflected in an increase of crime. Commercial crime has not increased proportionately to social crime, but it has increased, as shown in the brief statistics we offer above. It was but natural to expect some outburst of commercial crime when morals generally had lowered. This does not impeach the value of the department as a preventive of crime. Our organization believes the absence of such a protective department would have been reflected in a much larger increase of commercial crime than credit has had to contend with in the past twelve months.

"One Louis Nadel, alias Sam Nedler, of New Haven, Connecticut, started operations in Cincinnati, at No. 660 Main street, under the name of I. Glanzberg, in so doing impersonating the I. Glanzberg, of No. 662 Broadway, Cincinnati. He ordered merchandise in large quantities through the mails.

These orders were filled promptly by credit men under the impression that they were extending the credit to I. Glanzberg the well-rated merchant of No. 662 Broadway. Nadel was arrested April 22, along with his confederate, Abe Garoloff, alias A. Garry, alias A. Levine, of Bridgeport, Connecticut. Both are being held under $20,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury. The merchandise on being received was immediately shipped by mail and American Railway express to the home of Louis Nadel in New Haven, Connecticut, at which place his wife was located, having in her possession a large part of the merchandise. She was arrested. This is only one of a number of similar transactions of Nadel, for he has been identified as one Max Greenberg under indictment in Detroit, Michigan, for participation in a similar scheme, that of impersonating and ordering merchandise on the credit of a well-rated merchant.

"Our department has handled a number of cases wherein parties dealing exclusively in the wholesale grocery line and operating under master minds have made most flagrant failures, involving a sum totaling in excess of $300,000, on which the department has made a recovery of concealed assets in amount exceeding $110,000. It has sixteen of the parties involved under indictment and awaiting trial."

THREE-PLANE NAVY NEEDED

Navy on Sea, Under Sea and Over Sea.

THINGS NECESSARY TO NAVAL SUPREMACY

Impressions Gained as Result of First Naval Bombing Tests. Reports Delayed.

Washington, July 29.—The three-plane navy—the navy on the sea, below the surface and in the air—is going to be the navy of the future.

This is the very decided impression that remains after the first of the aerial bombing tests which the navy is conducting off the Virginia capes.

Official reports on the bombing will not be completed for some time yet. These reports must be digested by the navy general board. When the general board has taken the reports under careful advisement and has considered them in connection with reports of other tests and developments by other nations recommendations will be made for the future naval policy of the United States.

Despite the fact that no official indication has yet been given as to the thoughts running through the minds of the members of the general board, it is a very safe prediction that the three-plane navy is going to be the navy of the future. The prediction is issued on the comment of the officers on the fleet, the men who are at sea and the men who will do the fighting if war comes. Their theories are the theories which go to make up the reports on which are based the final conclusions of the general board.

The navy is not convinced that the battleship is obsolete. The navy still holds that the battleship is the backbone of the nation's defense, but at the same time the navy is not willing to depend upon the battleship alone, nor upon surface craft alone. The navy wants big battleships, fast cruisers and speedy destroyers, but it wants more

The navy wants submarines, great powerful, long-cruising submarines. The navy privately admits that the submarine was not defeated in the recent world feud. It respects the submarine as an enemy and wants submarines for defensive and offensive operations.

Furthermore, the navy wants a large air force. When General Mitchell made his statements that the battleship was useless against the aeroplane the navy pooh-poohed. General Mitchell is still being pooh-poohed in the fleet. But while the navy ridicules Mitchell and smiles at his statements the navy is insisting upon a large air force, for it is convinced that airforces are going to be a potent factor in future naval warfare. No one in the navy believes that naval battles can be fought in the air alone, but neither does any one believe that surface craft can put up a good fight against an enemy, strong in the air, without a strong supporting aerial force.

The navy wants to construct its plans for the future along the three-plane idea. The navy wants to be prepared for warfare under the sea, on the sea and above the sea.

Congress and those who hold the money bags are going to hear much in the future of the three-plane navy.

GERMAN CLAIMS A CANCER CURE

Develops a Peculiar X-Ray That is Effective.

SEES DISCARDING OF ALL OLD METHODS

Experiments Cover Long Period and Doctors of Europe Watch with Interest.

London, July 29.—Cancer is curable.

That is the announcement officially issued by the authorities of the West London hospital.

Experiments have been carried on in the hospital for months, and the experts investigating the subject have received invaluable assistance from the university of Erlangen, Bavaria, where Professor Herman Wintz has been treating the disease with extremely powerful X-rays.

"Surgery as a treatment for cancer may be entirely out of date in a few years time through a special form of X-rays now in use at our hospital," was the announcement made by one of the officials of the West London hospital.

"The ordinary X-ray has been only partially successful in the treatment of this dread disease, owing to the limitations of available apparatus. The new treatment makes it possible to use a much greater intensity of X-rays and yet does not injure the patient in the slightest degree.

"The new treatment consists of the use of rays of a wave length which is quite outside the range of the human vision. The current which we are using is approximately of 200,000 volts.

"We have made very careful tests here of this new method of treatment, and we are prepared to say that on a very conservative estimate we can place the number of cures in the future at double the number of those in the past.

"The difficulty in the past has been that the X-rays have not been able to get down to the center of the cancer without destroying the healthy structures between it and the skin. This has been overcome at last, and so successful have the results been in the women's clinic at Erlangen that all operations for the removal of cancer have been abandoned."

A demonstration of the use of this new X-ray machine—the only one in London—which has been installed at a great expense in the West London hospital—has been given to a body of doctors, and they are watching with great interest the results of the tests.

All That Affected Her.

That the Empress Eugenie is not prone to brood sentimentally over the past is evidenced by an incident that occurred some years ago. She visited Windsor castle, a palace in which in the golden days of the empire she was received as an honored guest. Those who accompanied her on this second visit hovered near her, fearing that she would be overcome with the contrast between the past and the present, especially when she viewed the apartments fitted up for her use and which had not been changed. But it was merely her artistic sense that was offended. The hangings of the huge bed were of imperial purple with the green of Napoleon, and the ex-empress remarked disgustedly, "Toujours ces affreux rideaux!" "Always those frightful curtains."

Even flying machines will not enable some men to get above reproach.

Q.—How many movie actresses can you name who got their start through winning motion-picture beauty contests?

A.—Beauty contests have helped a number of pretty girls into the movies and stardom. Corrine Griffith won a prize in a New Orleans Mardi Gras and then won a motion-picture contest, which paved her way into Shadowland. Hope Hampton, June Caprice, Virginia Faire, Corliss Palmer and Gertrude Olmstead all broke into the movies through winning motion picture contests.

Q.—To whom is Jewel Carmen married?

A.—In private life Jewel is Mrs. Kenneth Harlan.

Q.—How old is Peggy Pearce and where was she born?

A.—Blonde, blue-eyed Peggy was born in Long Beach, California, in 1896.

Q.—What was the first picture in which Pauline Frederick appeared?

A.—Pauline's first picture was "The Eternal City." It cost $22,000 to produce, which was considered a fabulous sum in those days.

Q.—How long is a three-foot kiss in the movies?

A.—On the screen a kiss of this film length will last but two seconds.

Colonel Goff Named.

Washington, July 29.—Colonel Guy D. Goff, the assistant to the attorney general, will be assigned as head of the justice department's special bureau for the investigation of government wartime contracts, Attorney General Daugherty announced.

When you hear one woman speak of another as being just her age the chances are she isn't.

Triple Tone Electric Bell.

Three separate and distinct sounds are given by an electric bell which operates on ordinary lighting current by means of a transformer. In the home the bell can be connected with push buttons installed at three different doors—front, kitchen and side, for example. When one button is pressed a clear ring results, when the second is operated a buzz is produced, and when the third button is pushed a combination buzz and ring results. In the office or shop this bell will prove most useful, since it can be used to call three different persons without necessitating them to count the number of rings as must often be done when the customary signaling is employed. This bell has no contact points to burn out and no batteries to replace.

That Humble "Life-Saver," The Cotter Pin

Leaving It Out Is A Veritable "Sin Of Omission"

THIS MAY SEEM A TRIVIAL SUBJECT, but it isn't, for every motor car is constantly kept from self-destruction and from killing or maiming its passengers, by these apparently insignificant but indispensable little doubled up steel wires. A missing cotter pin may cause more shocking results to an auto than a lost common pin to milady's costume. Nearly every nut, the security of which is vital and which must be prevented from turning off, is held in place by a cotter pin, lock washers, although quite effective, not being depended upon in such places. No one can estimate the mechanical destruction which has been wrought—such as doubled up connecting rods, broken crank cases and stripped gears—by the careless omission of cotter pins or the number of road accidents due to their absence from axle-stub nuts and steering connections. It is not an extreme statement, that it is less important to put on the nut itself than to put in the pin which locks it, for the absence of the former would at once become apparent—probably before conditions became hazardous—while the omission of the latter might not work out its dire result until a more critical time. In disassembling parts or readjusting them, cotter pins have to be removed and the danger lies in the failure to replace them. It is a possibility that should constantly be kept in mind and guarded against, whether the work is done by the owner, by his chauffeur or by a garage mechanic. No nut or other fastening device, that is intended to be cotter pinned, is reliable or safe unless thus secured and the same is true of nuts which are intended to have lock-washers under them. Do not take chances by omitting these vital safeguards. Cotter pins are quite usually spoiled by the act of removing them and it is desirable to have a stock of all needed sizes on hand, so that there may be no excuse for omitting them, using broken ones or substituting for them hay-wire of bent up wire nails, which are decidedly undependable. After performing a job which involves disturbing pinned nuts, the last thought should be "are the cotters and lock-washers all in place?" Unless the answer is yes, the work has not been safely completed. Sometimes, when a nut is set exactly right for a fine adjustment, it stands in such a position that its cotter pin cannot be passed through the hole, but usually by filing the inside face of the nut, it can be made to tighten at such an angle that the pin can be inserted.

NOISY EXHAUST

P. L. S. writes: When my car was new, there was very little noise from the muffler, but lately this has increased objectionably and now every explosion can be heard distinctly. There is a kind of rattling drumlike noise. What causes this and how can it be prevented?

Answer: Probably your muffler has loosened up from the jar of the car or from explosions occurring within it. Its shells may have loosened or even become torn so that there is a greater escape of the exhaust or the loosening may permit a vibration of the shell which causes the drumming sound which you describe. If examination shows the muffler to have escaped you can perhaps have the same drawn tight at a welder's or it may be secured or you may have to get a new muffler. The gas escaping between the shells of the muffler and the exhaust pipe may be lessened or even stopped if you can get hold of the muffler and pull the shells tight together. If you are able to do this and the noise is greatly lessened, it is probable that the muffler needs a new gasket.

BATTERY REQUIRES WATER TOO OFTEN

S. L. says: My battery requires too much water, particularly during the winter, that I have to fill it after each long trip. This is quite a bother and I find that other users of the same make of car have no trouble as this. Can I do anything to remedy this condition?

Answer: Assuming that the case [illegible] passing that [illegible] escape [illegible] After a cell [illegible] the power of the [illegible] into the [illegible] escape along [illegible] spray. To [illegible] Where [illegible] to do [illegible] charging [illegible] too long [illegible] to [illegible] by which [illegible] from the solution on the plates.

No Woman Passenger Pilots.

In England women will not be given permission to serve as pilots on passenger airplanes. An official of the air ministry gave the reason for this decision to a writer on the London Sketch as "physical disability as well as nerves," declaring that women's nerves are much more likely to give way than men's.

"I think there are no women in this country capable of passing the air ministry's test. If one does succeed, however, she will be permitted to fly her own private machine, but whether she will be allowed to take a friend with her is a point that remains to be decided.

"In any case women will be barred as pilots of passenger-carrying machines."

A Senator's Lunch.

Being addressed by a smirking head waiter as "Senator" means nothing to the gay life of Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

Instead of dining at the senate restaurant, where senatorial dignity and dirking white aprons garbed waiters predominate, when night sessions prevent him from going home, the senator repairs to a nearby cafeteria, collects tray, napkin, knife, fork, spoon and other implements of table warfare, nestles his liver and bacon and other seasonal delicacies on the tray, walks over to a table and lays out his spread.

King Of Moorea Island

A story which reads like a novel is told by Mike Fogel, who has returned to San Francisco to retain American citizenship before returning to the South Sea Islands, where he is a King on one of them. He first went there 22 years ago, and lived on a barren island on fish, cocoanuts and taro roots. He married the Queen of the Island, a refined cultured woman, speaking French and English. Although he is not recognized by the French Government he makes all the laws for his own people who look up to him in their honesty and simplicity. Fogel is well liked by the natives.

CLEVELAND PEOPLE HELD UP IN ROME

Compelled To Surrender Jewelry Valued at $3,000.

Cleveland, July 29.—Two masked bandits routed John Davis and his wife from bed in their home on West Boulevard, early today and compelled them to surrender more than $3,000 worth of jewelry. The burglars then ripped the telephone from the wall and warned the couple not to make an outcry for ten minutes to enable them to escape. The thugs disappeared in an automobile. The burglars first asked for some whisky. Davis said and when told he had none, demanded his ready cash, which amounted to $85. The jewels, chiefly diamonds, belonged to Mrs. Davis.

IT'S A ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN

EXPERTS THAT AREN'T.

In connection with the proposed revision by congress of income and excess profits tax legislation, the internal revenue commissioner sounds a timely warning against fake experts who offer their services for a consideration to persons making out their reports.

There are numerous genuine experts, men who have made a special study of the income tax and are prepared to solve the many problems it presents. According to a new plan for the protection of taxpayers, these experts register for practice before the treasury. Their qualifications are investigated and they must satisfy the officials of their ability to advise laymen regarding the law. The prevalence of fakers is shown by the fact that in the last month some fifty persons have been disbarred from treasury practice because of irregularities.

Aside from intentionally honest but ignorant advice often given taxpayers by incompetent agents, the treasury has to deal with the situation caused by those who offer suggestions on evading the law or "cooking up" figures in reports so as to avoid certain payments. There have been many instances where such advice has led taxpayers into serious trouble.

If one overpays the government the excess is returned to him in time. There have been many such instances. But beware of the individual who has a "wonderful" plan for doing the government. The mere suggestion indicates that he is the sort of person to be given an extremely wide berth.

Anyway, if another month is to be added to the calendar great care should be exercised not to pattern it after July or August.

WHAT IS EDUCATION?

It seems to be about time that we had a restatement of our definition of education. We are demanding things of the person we call educated which we may have no right to demand of him.

The tendency to look on the educated as a super-intellectual seems to be a hang-over from the days when Oliver Goldsmith modestly confessed to a yearning "amidst the swains to show my book-learned skill;" when he pictured the rustics ranged around the village school master discoursing in "words of learned length and thundering sound: And still they gaze, and still the wonder grew that one small head could carry all he knew."

The sum total of things to be known has increased many hundredfold since those days, so that even Goldsmith's village master might be considered as nothing remarkable. From this great store of knowledge the schools pick out certain things which are worth knowing and attempt to impart this knowledge to boys and girls. We can remember only a small part of what is thus learned, and the chances are that when we meet some one who has remembered the same things which we have remembered we call him educated.

This, of course, is wrong. Some of us may know things which we did not learn in school. It is conceivable that a man may be a most excellent teacher in some line without having heard of Eli Whitney, and it also is conceivable that one may be able to answer all of the Edison questions and still be a failure as a teacher.

TO REVIVE INDUSTRY.

Congress should act promptly and favorably on the president's request for authority to the War Finance corporation to employ its available funds in relieving the railroads and the country's agricultural interests.

It is a simple proposition, especially as it applies to the transportation companies; it involves no appropriation, no taxation. But if the War Finance corporation advances to the railroad administration the money of which the carrying companies are so much in need, taking as security the nulliqid assets of the railroad administration, it will be possible for the railroads to begin improving their properties. This would mean instant revival of industry over quite a broad field. The proposed help to agriculture, especially live stock raisers, is no less urgent and can be extended without increasing popular burdens.

Nothing more encouraging to general business can be imagined than the plan since it is most certain to be acted on favorably.

LIFE'S VAUDEVILLE.

[By Dr. James Ball Naylor.]

WHAT IS NEWS?

What is news?
Finance—says the business man,
Games—says the lad;
Fashions—cries his mother,
Markets—grunts his dad;
Gossip—chirps the housemaid,
Crimes—grins the judge;
Marriage—says the debutante,
The small girl giggles—"Fudge!"
Thus 'tis never settled—
Each one airs his views;
That is why I'm asking—
What is news?

Broadly speaking, there are two kinds of business and professional persons: those who won't shop at all—and those who talk nothing but shop.

And the average reporter doesn't know which is to be more dreaded.

The one class he has to run down; and, when he has run it to earth, if he gets anything out of it—well, he has to blast it out with dynamite.

The other class runs after him; and it simply overflows with information—deluges him with stuff it desires to see in print—expects to see in print.

The firts class thinks its private affairs should be kept in the office safe—under a time lock; the second class thinks its private concerns are of burning interest to the general public—and should be blazoned broadcast.

The first class holds that reports concerning business and professional affairs are not news; the second class holds that such reports are the best of news.

So—

What is news?

The Week, of Columbus, tells of a reporter who went to the city street car barns, in search of news items. There he found a conductor off duty, and said to him:

"Many things must happen to you, during the week, which would make interesting reading for the public. Therefore, I wish to interview you—and make a Sunday sketch."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed the conductor. "I am the last man you ought to interview. Nothing happens on my car—nothing at all. Of course, I have to bounce about fifteen men a week off the car because they won't pay their fares—but that is of no interest, however. I have to interfere in about five quarrels a day; but that's to be expected. About five persons lose a cent on the floor every trip—and then there's a fight to see who gets the cent. We shove a coal-cart off the tracks almost every trip, and we also take a wheel off a moving-van. But you expect such things to happen don't you? Two or three times a week, a woman faints away in my car; and then a doctor and an ambulance have to be called. About once a day a detective comes into my car and takes a thief out, and—"

But to which class did this conductor belong—communicative or non-communicative?

And—

What is news?

Program For Chautauqua Pageant

PATRONS MUCH PLEASED BY CHAUTAUQUA TRIO

Which Pulls Some Mysterious Stuff Last Night.

MAGICIANS PUZZLE THEIR AUDIENCE AT PAVILION

Preliminary to Performance of the Henrys. Crawford-Adams Company Gives Program.

Chautauqua patrons, in as large a number as have gathered during the week, were given an entertainment out of the ordinary and one of real mirth at the Chautauqua pavilion, Thursday evening. This came with the appearance of the Henry company in feats of magic, psychic science, transparent productions, rag pictures, crayon sketches and sand pictures.

The Henry company is composed of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Henry, assisted by N. W. Cummins. Mr. Henry is considered among the best magicians on the road, and the company entertained the large audience for about two hours. As tricks of magic often become tiresome to many audiences, the program of the company was divided into two parts, the second part varying in style so that the audience never became tired.

In the program of magic the Henrys performed mysteries, novelties and surprises. The company first acquainted itself with the audience to make the evening one of mirth, and this accomplished, Henry started his tricks. Then some members of the audience expressed their ideas of how some of the tricks were performed and to prove their merit to the skeptical, Henry tried to show them how they were performed, but the further he went the more he put his audience in the dark.

Over Ton of Paraphernalia.

The company carries over a ton of paraphernalia and apparatus, and the costumes worn by them are attractively appropriate for the various parts of the program. On account of the limited time, the company selected a comparatively small number of the best tricks of magic for this part of the program, the disappearing mice and the producing of a stack of globes with fish from a bunch of flags were two of his features that put his audience at ease.

Preliminary to the opening of the second part of the program, the Henrys performed a feat which might be termed psychic science. Although not claiming it to be a "spiritualistic" accomplishment, it has been so called by a number of performers and would give many the same impression. After a card, designating some painting, was selected by one of his audience, the company produced the picture on a blank cloth. This was done in a small cabinet, back of which was a strong light, and in full view of the audience.

To an appropriate piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Henry, Mr. Henry produced a rag picture entitled "His Dream of Liberty." The story was related by Mr. Henry as the picture progressed and displayed various scenes from the dream until it concluded with the statue of liberty.

Various Colored Lights.

Mr. Henry followed this with a transparent oil picture of a bridge, which produced a beautiful effect under various colored lights. He produced a number of crayon sketches with swiftness that was astonishing, some being drawn up side down and some at a side angle.

The Henrys concluded their program with Mr. Henry producing several sand pictures. For these he used various colors of sand and a square frame. They were portrayed with much speed and with a slight tap on the frame the sand trickled to the floor while members of the audience expressed a feeling of regret at seeing the works of art disappear. His final sand picture was entitled, "The House by the Side of the Road." To the piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Henry, he produced the picture and recited the poem, thus putting a pleasing finish on the entertainment.

Crawford Adams Company.

Preliminary to the performance of the Henry company, the Crawford Adams company, which held the boards in the afternoon, gave an entertainment lasting thirty minutes that was very pleasing. Charles LaPierre opened the program with a piano solo, playing rhapsody No. 12, by Frank Liszt.

Miss Roscith Reed gave two entertaining sketches entitled, "On the Train," and "A Girl's First Automobile Ride." She portrayed the parts with such emotion and gestures as to keep the audience in a roar of laughter. Crawford Adams, violinist closed the concert with the rendition of several selections to accompaniments played by Charles LaPierre. He performed on the violin with a wonderful technique.

CRAWFORD ADAMS AND HIS TALKING VIOLIN

Well, They Take Chautauqua Audience by Storm.

CARRIES STRONG COMPANY THOUGH IT IS SMALL

Mrs. Alice S. Houston Closes Lectures and Cooking Demonstrations This Afternoon.

The Crawford Adams company entertained Chautauquaites with a splendid program of musical numbers and readings, Thursday afternoon. The company is a triangle of real artists and the afternoon will be one of the pleasing memories of the 1921 program.

Crawford Adams won his audience with the first number and its appreciation of his ability and interpretation was rewarded with generous encores. Mr. Adams was ably supported by Charles LaPierre, at the piano. Miss Roscith Reed, reader with the company, charmed the audience with her character work and did much to make the afternoon's program a success.

Mr. Adams' first group of numbers were, "Scherzo," by Van Goens; "A Poem," by Fiftch; "Spanish Dance," by Rehfeld. He responded to an encore with a medley of fox trots from light opera.

LaPierre Offerings.

Mr. LaPierre followed with a piano number, "Prelude in G Minor," by Rachmaninoff, and responded to an encore with "A Country Dance," by Grangier. Other numbers played by Mr. LaPierre were "Liebestraum," by Liszt, and his encore Nevin's "Mighty Lak a Rose." All of Mr. LaPierre's numbers received hearty applause.

"Juliette Tired of Her Husband" was the reading chosen by Miss Reed for her first number followed by "Freddie at Lunch with His Mother." The costume number, "Aunt Eliza on Automobiles" brought Miss Reed back to the platform and she responded with a little story, "Ethel Wants a Drink."

Requested by Audience.

Mr. Adams' second group of numbers consisted of selections requested by the audience. Those asked for were "Narcissus," Beethoven's "Minuet in G," Lullaby," arranged by Kreisler, "Love Nest," "A Perfect Day" and "Always My Man." The encore response to these numbers was a novel feature of making the violin talk which delighted the grown-ups of the audience as well as the children.

Following the concert Mrs. Alice Scherfy Houston gave an interesting talk on foods and their value. These lectures and demonstrations have been quite well attended by the women of the city and closed this afternoon with a demonstration of salad making.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Weist, of northwest of town, was the scene of a pleasant gathering Sunday, the occasion being the celebration of the birthday of Mrs Weist and their neighbor, the aged Mrs F. Those present were: Mr. S. H. Cook, Mr and Mrs. W. E. WHERE RAILROADS ARE OUTLAWED BY PEOPLE

Afghanistan Buffer State Between England and Russia.

"KEEP OUT" SIGNS ARE POSTED THERE YEARS AGO

And These Signs Are Still Up. Foreigners Are Not Welcome There.

Washington, July 27.—The arrival in Washington of an envoy from Afghanistan, now perhaps the most mysterious country in the world, seeking the recognization of his home land and the establishment of diplomatic relations with the United Statesfi seems to indicate that the policy of absolute isolation from the rest of the world long followed by this Moslem kingdom is to be modified. Light on conditions in this little-known region is thrown by the following communication to the National Geographic society from Frederick Simpich and Haji Mirza Hussein:

"The buffer state of Afghanistan, historic shock-absorber between Great Britain and Russia in middle Asia, years ago put up a 'Keep Out' sign, a 'This Means You' warning, to all white men and Christians. The land is 'posted'—to use a preacher's phrase—posted against trade and concession hunters, against missionaries, and against all military and political hunters in particular.

"Keep Out" Sign Up.

"And the 'Keep Out' sign is still up. Today the foreigner is no more welcome in Afghanistan than he was a hundred years ago. Forbidden Lhasa itself is no more exclusive than brooding, suspicious Kabul, the capital of this isolate, unfriendly realm of fanatic tribes, of rocks, deserts, irrigated valleys, and towering unsurveyed ranges.

"For reasons of foreign policy, the Amir has long felt the necessity of secluding his little-known land to the greatest possible extent from the outside world. Only a few Europeans, mostly British, but occasionally also an American and now and then a few Russians or Germans, have had permission to come into this country and to sojourn for a while in its curious capital. But even on such rare occasions as when a foreign engineer, or a doctor whose services are badly needed, is admitted by the grace of the Amir, the visitor is subject to a surveillance that amounts almost to imprisonment.

"No ambassadors or ministers, not even missionaries are permitted to reside in this forbidden Moslem land. 'Splendid isolation' is a sort of Afghan tradition, a conviction that the coming of the foreigner will spell the end of the Amir and his unique, absolute rule.

Amir's Whim Is Law.

"Today no other monarch anywhere wields such undisputed authority or is in closer touch with the every-day life of his subjects. He personally runs his country's religion, its foreign affairs, and he even supervises much of its commerce. He also owns and censors the only newspaper printed in all Afghanistan. Incidentally, he keeps fifty-eight automobiles, and he never walks. Even from one palace to another, he goes by motor over short pieces of road built especially for his pleasure.

"From the World war, though he took no active part in it, the Amir emerged with singular profits. His old and once rival neighbors, Great Britain and Russia, drawn together as allies in the world conflict, left him a free hand, and in 1919 Great Britain officially recognized the political independence of this much-buffeted buffer state, to whose rulers she had so long paid a fat annuity.

"With an area of 245,000 square miles, Afghanistan is, next to Tibet, the largest country in the world that is practically closed to the citizens of other nations. But political life at wary, alert Kabul is in sharp contrast to the meditative seclusion and classic aloofness of the pious lamas at Lhasa. Amir Amanullah Khan, through his agents in India and elsewhere, is in close touch with the world's current events; and, as the last remaining independent ruler of a Moslem country, now that the power of the Caliph at Stamboul is broken, he wields a far-reaching influence throughout the Mohammedan world; also, because his land happens to lie just as it does on the map of the world, it is plain that for a long time to come he will be an active force in the political destinies of middle Asia. Like Menelik of Abyssinia, Queen Lil of the Hawaiian Islands, or the last of the Fiji kings, this Amir, remote and obscure as his kingdom is, stands out in his time as a picturesque world figure.

Wives Distributed as Gifts.

"From the Persians the Afghans got the idea of marrying more than one wife; but, like the Persians, too, they have found, to their dismay, that polygamy is nowadays more expensive than exciting.

"Sometimes when the Amir wants to favor his faithful officials with presents, or perhaps to play practical jokes in certain cases, he distributes women among them; but these 'gifts' often prove so troublesome that no great degree of gratitude is apparent among the recipients.

"Amir Habibullah Khan, who was assassinated in 1919, had a harem of over 100 women, and among these, strangely enough, were a few Europeans. The present Amir, Amanullah, has but one wife.

"The women of Afghanistan are kept in more rigid seclusion and are more closely veiled than the women of any other Moslem land.

"Like the Arab, the Afghan considers it unnecessary and even unwise that women should learn to read or write. No girls are admitted to the bazaar schools and no mullahs are employed to teach them and Afghanistan knows nothing of women teachers.

Independence Brings Changes.

"The trade of Afghanistan is moved entirely by caravans and is largely in the hands of Hindus and Tadjike. There is not a mile of railroad in the kingdom, the Amir fearing that steel highways would make isolation impossible.

"Apart from rugs, a few xylographs, some crude adornments for women, a little silk and felt, and a few simple woven tissues, no products of native skilled labor are on the market. And even much of what is produced in these few lines is merely an imitation of Western and Eastern art. Small industries supply only the most urgent needs of the lower classes. The rich people buy their luxuries from abroad, and the poor make shabby shift with the cheaper fabrics.

"The Amir keeps at Peshawar a political agent, who occasionally pays a visit to the viceroy of India; and, since Afghanistan's formal independence in 1919, envoys have been sent to Persia and one is perhaps now in soviet Russia."

SOUTH CHINA, WHERE CIVIL WAR SMOULDERS

Pauper and Prince Provinces in Celestial Empire.

KWANGSI CALLED PAUPER AND KWANGTUNG PRINCE

From Ancient Times Kwangsi Has Been Mysterious Region. Wild Fastnesses.

Washington, July 29.—Hostilities have broken out between the two Kwang provinces of southern China, Kwangsi remaining loyal to the Pekin government, while Canton in the Kwangtung province is the stronghold of Dr Sun Yat Sen's party, according to recent dispatches.

"These two provinces of the former Celestial Empire, crawl in a dragon-trail line across the south of the country from a point just west of Formosa where they begin to skirt the China Sea west to the reaches of little-known Yunnan and Siam. They are interesting in the very antithesis of some of their characteristics," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society, Washington.

Pauper and Prince Provinces.

"Kwangsi is usually considered the pauper province and is the least densely populated portion of China, while Kwangtung which contains Canton, one of the largest cities in the East, is the most ambitious of the divisions of the republic.

"From ancient times, Kwangsi, however, has been a mysterious region. Its mountain fastnesses and forests have been the haunts of robbers, rebels and revolutionists.

"The natives have peopled its grottoes, caves and crags with fairies, dragons, demons and ogres, and fire has popularized the hillsides and boats that wander about through the sparsely settled mountain districts.

"The hill regions, due to their steepness and lack of soil, drive the people of the province to a floating existence upon its rivers, the picturesque and typical native junks gliding past the queer flat-bottom craft and the salt boats, on all of which at night the people, having cast anchor, sleep to the lullaby of the ceaseless roar of waters and the weird calls of the natives to frighten off the evil spirits.

Prophets Cherished at Home.

"Kweilin, the capital of Kwangsi, like the capitals of most of China's eighteen provinces, is located on the banks of a hospitable river—the Kwei, a large tributary of the West river. Here in a city which cherishes the memory of Shun who lived in 2200 B. C., and to whom three thousand years later was built a temple which is standing today, the governor of Kwangsi resides. The lake region between Pingin and Kweilin does not leave the traveler guessing how the fairy stories originate, but makes him wonder why the more appreciative tourists have not made a beaten trail to some of the elfin haunts.

"Just within the eastern boundary of the province stands Wuchow, the commercial capital of Kwangsi.

"The Chinese province name Kwangtung we have Anglicized into Canton, just one of the many names which that city has worn since the days of ancient Imperial Cathay. Its soubriquet is the City of the Goat.

"This it won because five immortals once rode within its limits before the end of the Chou dynasty in 250 B. C. upon five goats, and their traditional mounts which it is explained were turned to stone, are pointed out to this day.

Seat of Progress.

"The thick Chinaman of Canton resemble closely the types which one sees in various parts of the United States, as the progressive Cantonese are ready to leave their country to try their luck in other climes. The native Chinese skyscrapers of the city, which have been modeled after those of New York, would give the homesick American a lump in his throat for a sight of the skyline of Manhattan. But out beyond the city in the rural districts of Kwangtung he would probably forget his pangs in the charm of the low stone houses of the villagers tucked behind fields of plumed millet near their sweet-potato terraces and rice swamps, over which flutter long lines of white streamers to scare away the magpies. The violet-spangled meadows, the luxuriant ferns, the mystic purple lotus, the fragrant Chinese narcissus, which almost grows before his eyes, the heavily clustered bougainvillea, and the giant bamboo make it a land of beauty and delight.

"Kwangtung raises large numbers of mulberry trees from which the worms spin some of our best silk, and since the return of many of Kwangtung's people from Manila where they have learned the secrets of expert tobacco culture, this product is being added to her list.

Why is it that the average man is seldom willing to do the things he is constantly telling others they should do?

Father Time was the original wheelman. From the beginning he has gone on by cycles.
